

About Us

Bodo's Schloss – a bar, restaurant and late night discotheque complete with snow covered pine trees at the entrance and an interior reminiscent of a lodge in the Austrian Alps, yet in the heart of Kensington

Bodo's Schloss is in the setting being that of a farmhouse, seemingly worlds away from the urban hustle and bustle, with smiling staff in dressed in traditional lederhosen and dirndls. The result is a fun, egalitarian environment where one can either pop in for an “après work” drink/bite to eat or sit down to enjoy a relaxing dinner then enjoy late night dancing with tunes spun by a DJ in a 70's cable car.

Bodo's Schloss' drink selections include fine Austrian wines and beer steins as well as their own brand of homemade schnapps. Fun drinking vessels include champagne served in milk urns, shots served on antique skis, shared vessels in replicas of ski boots or, for those that dare, the signature cocktail in a handmade ice castle carving costing £5,000. The food selection is just as fun and diverse, created by chefs recruited from Kitzbuhel, in order to produce a menu with delicious, authentic fare.

The element of authenticity does not stop with the food and wine. In order to give the feel of an Austrian farmhouse, 300-year-old tiles were imported for parts of the flooring. 200-year-old Austrian was wood sourced for the interior walls, and also handcrafted for the booths and benches for a family-like dining atmosphere.

Bodo's restaurant and late night bar is open from 5pm Monday to

Sunday. Disco from 10pm Thursday/Friday/Saturday/Sunday has a 21 years policy. Those who take part in wearing traditional lederhosen, dirndl or mountain wear may entitle complimentary entrance. Please ensure you arrive in mixed groups and are all presentably dressed entry at discretion of the door. Restaurant and party table reservations recommended.

From 5pm join us for Feirabend, a celebration of evening. Prost!
